Shabbat Shalom Family,

As I begin this week's News Letter I am completely and totally exhausted. For years I have been telling you to speak out and to shout this message out to those who are looking but do not know where to go and find the truth. Some of you have done so and others, well not so much.

Last weekend I entered my cabbage in the Orangeville Fall Fair. Once I did that I thought it would be a great opportunity to speak to anyone who would listen about the benefits of following the land, which is to give the land a Sabbatical year of rest. I wrestled with doing this, as I would have to be there on the Sabbath. How would I be able to do this and sell the book on Friday night and Saturday? I could not do this and was about to back out until I decided that I would give them away during the Sabbath, to anyone who showed me they were interested in the books or DVD's.

I was concerned about doing this. In fact, I was terrified. Would anyone want to talk? Would they argue or talk reasonably? How would this work? I had no idea. I have always spoken with those who knew their bibles to some degree and most were already keeping the Sabbath and even the Holy Days. But this time I was going out cold turkey into an environment where I had no idea who would be interested or how much any one person understood. As the day drew closer I became more and more concerned that I had made a huge mistake.

I set up my booth early Friday morning, having taken time off of work again. The fair opened at 12:00 and we had to be set up by 10 AM, but I had to travel 2 hours to the other side of Toronto to pick up the booth material I had ordered weeks ago, which only came in late the night before. I then had to drive back to Orangeville. I left the house at 4 and was back by 9 and set up by 10. I had lunch and was back in the booth with books and bookmarks and ready to take on the first person to come up to me. Friday was very slow, as most people were still at work. Standing in a booth is hard and tiresome work.

I had the booth that was diagonally across from the 26.8 lb. cabbage that I had entered in the fair. The President of the Fairgrounds was in love with me because of all the free press they were getting because of the size of this cabbage. Our local paper ran a great story on it, as did the radio and TV stations and then the Toronto Star.

Here is the Orangeville newspaper article.

And here is the Toronto Star article.

People from other fairgrounds contacted the president to ask about me and ask if I would come to their fair in the weeks to come. This cabbage generated local and national news stories and the president loved it. My entry fees were waived and I was invited to eat at the special luncheon they had prepared. The president kept coming back to talk to me and was so excited about all that was going on.

When people came in the door, almost all of them stopped and looked at the cabbage and could not get over it. Then when they turned, they walked past my booth.

If they looked me in the eye I would engage them in small talk about the cabbage, which would lead into an explanation of the Sabbatical year and letting the land rest to restore the bacteria in the soil. I was given 10 seconds of luring lines to attract them over and then about 2-3 minute sermons as they listened. If they were still there then we would go into an explanation of the Sabbatical years and then the 10 Lost Tribes and how they were from those tribes. I would guess at their nationality and was pretty accurate with them. Old, young, family with kids and teens, I engaged them all. If they had 'biker' written all over them or tattoo heaven I engaged them, and those I did not expect to talk did and they had some knowledge, and many would talk.

Those not interested and who looked away, I called out to them and told them to take a bookmark; if they did, depending on which one they took, I would explain it to them in about 1 minute and tell them the web site and where they could watch the video for FREE. They liked that.

No one would buy the book or the DVD that Friday. But they all said they would go to the web site. At least until the Sabbath came...

On Saturday, people came in droves and I was super busy all day from 10 until 4. No bathroom breaks or lunch or anything. Just constant talking and trying to lure people in to look at this info. We are fishermen, after all. On Saturday many of the people wanted to buy the book and DVD's. As they reached for their wallet, I explained to them this was my Sabbath and I could not sell or trade on this day. They stared at me in stunned silence and would then put the book back. I told them they must take the book or the DVD and that today it would be free to them. They could not get over it. And they were so happy. No one had done this for them before.

There were two ladies who wanted to take all I had after talking with me for about an hour on two different occasions. They were in tears when I told them I could not take their money. That would have been over $200 in sales for each person. I asked the one woman to stop crying, as she was making a scene. I did not want everyone to know the books were free. She was going to tell her Pentecostal pastor the next day at church what I was doing and all I that I had said. Others were going to tell the Baptists and the Presbyterians and on it went. Some were Catholic and were so impressed that they would not leave, because of all they were learning as I explained things to them.

I naturally had some come by trying to sell me on the group they were promoting. I listened politely and then would turn them back to the Sabbatical year.

At 7:30 on Saturday night the crowds were still coming, when this mother and her twenty year old daughter came by and I was able to lure them over to the table. Once they picked the ten tribe bookmark I began to explain it to them. The mother was not too interested, then the daughter picked up the 2016 book and wanted to buy it. I thought she was not listening. I told her that in thirty minutes, after the sun set, she could pay me $20 for the book but now because it was the Sabbath it was still free. I got to see two of the biggest smiles from both of them that it struck me and I have not forgotten them.

After the sun set the crowds almost stopped, too. I thought things would continue and I could now begin to sell the books and DVD's, but it became very slow until closing at 9 PM. I was exhausted and so tired and still had to cook supper when I got home. So I had a french fry from the Greek wagon in the park. He would come in the next day and I remembered him and talked to him about the cabbage, which he found amazing. I then shared with him about the tribes as they passed through Greece. He was very interested.

On Sunday I was there again at 9:30 ready to go and at about 11:00, the crush of people came. They had a Sunday service in the Fairgrounds and all of those people then came into the hall where I was set up. Some were leery of me, but many would talk. Another guy in the booth down the hall came up first thing and bought a book and had read many pages before he left that day. I thought this was my sign of what was about to begin.

Many people stopped and talked. A few bought the books and DVD's; teenagers, too. Then this one guy who thought he was up on his bible knowledge came along and he was trying to probe me. So I just began to explain some of the Christian misunderstandings to him and his mouth was getting bigger and bigger and he said he 'had never thought of that' many times during the conversation. While we were talking I would urge those passing by to take a bookmark. One lady began to talk to me and said that she was Muslim. That was my clue to just drop it and let her go. Well, doesn't this guy try to save her by telling her about Jesus? I wanted to get them both away from my booth but could not, nor could I get in to change the subject. It seemed to take forever before they both left. Soon after that, one lady came up and seemed to be very interested until she realized I was teaching 2016 and not 2014. She was Jewish. And she just walked away.

So at the end of Sunday I am totally wiped out and could not sleep for two days. I have learned what works and what does not work. I have learned how to take my subject and make it into an elevator conversation. I have 15 seconds to sell you the idea or not. I have two minutes to convince you, if you stop to listen. If you stay after that then I know I had you at hello.

I also had one mother and daughter who were at the table looking and listening while I was talking to someone else. They left before I could talk to them. About an hour later they brought back their grandfather who knew all about Jeremiah and the red hand of Ulster and the stone and who the Irish were. He was so proud to see me telling people these things. I was so honoured to meet someone who already understood. We kept telling the granddaughter to learn these things from him while he was still here. It was a special moment. They left with the Ten Tribe DVD. This is still the number one hit video on YouTube for that subject.

But the lure or the hook for most people is the heraldry of their names. Young and old. So I now need to change my booth to show this image of the 12 tribes around the camp at Mount Sinai, with each tribe and the emblem for each tribe and the national emblem of each of the matching nations today, so they all can see it as they walk by. And I need another pop-up banner with how the name changed from Israel down to the Celtic people. Once I have that I would add Celtic music and then hit all the fairs that are Gaelic and the like. I know people would love to learn this. I have proven it myself this weekend. But this is such hard work. We need more teachers, we need more people speaking up. They are waiting for someone to show them. Will it be you? Will you help me do this, as it does cost money for the booth and the space at each fair? It costs money for the changes I now need to make. I really do need your help now. It cost money to give the books and DVD's away on Sabbath. Please do consider helping us to support this effort of reaching out and planting seeds in those who need to know.

Have you considered the verse in Numbers 15?

Num 15:18 Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them, When you come into the land where I bring you, 19 then it shall be that when you eat of the bread of the land, you shall offer up a heave offering to Jehovah. 20 You shall offer up a cake of the first of your dough, a heave offering, as the heave offering of the threshing-floor, so you shall lift it up. 21 Of the first of your dough you shall give to Jehovah a heave offering in your generations. 22 And if you have erred and have not done all these commandments which Jehovah has spoken to Moses, 23 all that Jehovah has commanded you by the hand of Moses from the day that Jehovah commanded, and onward in your generations, 24 then it shall be if it is committed by ignorance without the knowledge of the congregation, all the congregation shall offer up one young bull for a burnt offering, for a sweet savor to Jehovah, with its food offering and its drink offering, according to the ordinance, and one kid of the goats for a sin offering. 25 And the priest shall make an atonement for all the congregation of the sons of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them, for it is ignorance. And they shall bring their offering, a sacrifice made by fire to Jehovah, and their sin offering before Jehovah, for their ignorance. 26 And it shall be forgiven all the congregation of the sons of Israel and the stranger that lives among them, since all the people were in ignorance. 27 And if one soul sins through ignorance, then he shall bring a female goat of the first year for a sin offering. 28 And the priest shall make an atonement for the soul, when he sins through error before Jehovah, to make an atonement for him. And it shall be forgiven him. 29 And you shall have one law for him who acts through ignorance; for him that is native among the sons of Israel and for the alien that resides among them. 30 But the soul who acts with a high hand, whether of the native or of the alien, the same blasphemes Jehovah. And that soul shall be cut off from among his people. 31 Because he has despised the Word of Jehovah and has broken His commandment, that soul shall be utterly cut off. His iniquity shall be upon him.

This verse describes the commandment to give a portion of one's dough to the Priests ("Kohanim") in the Temple. The dough was given to the Kohanim since they were not given a portion of land of their own through which to sustain themselves. The job of the Kohanim was to educate the people and work in the Temple, thereby providing the people with religious sustenance. They were, in turn, provided with physical sustenance from the Nation. Such is one's existence in the Land of Israel – the physical and spiritual are continuously intertwined. I want you all to consider this verse as you study those things here at sightedmoon.com. I am asking for your help to share this message with more and more people each and every day, in every possible way I can.

We are told to go out two by two to spread the gospel. We are commanded to do so. We are told to warn them of the coming sword. I have now done my part for my hometown and continue to do so everywhere else. Have I found 10? I hope so. But I need your help to reach others in other towns.

On Monday as I sat in the back yard, I prayed to Yehovah asking Him to confirm that this is what he wants me to do in the future, to show me this is a good thing to do. Even as I prayed the phone rang. It was the CBC radio, Canada's National Radio. They wanted to interview me on National Radio about the cabbage. I cannot believe how big this story is getting. Here is the link to the show. Listen to the intro and then you can go to the 16 minute part to listen to the rest of the conversation. My mentioning of the book was edited out.

It is amazing what Yehovah has done with such a thing as just this little cabbage I began to grow this spring. Wow. As I go to post this, another article has come out in the Orangeville Paper about the cabbage. Click here to read it.
