Shabbat Shalom Brethren,

One lady wrote the following about the book at Amazon.com.

I picked up this book because I was interested in the topic of the sabbath year. However, I quickly discovered that, even though the author claims to just be a blue-collar worker with not much education, he has thoroughly researched all aspects of history and he has an incredible depth of knowledge of the Scriptures — and this book covers a lot more than just the sabbath year.

One thing I appreciated was the chronological listing of years and dates from creation to the present, with explanations of how to interpret the Bible's history with secular history.

I thought the author's explanation of why all Christians — no, all people in the world — should obey God's commands, was one of the best I've seen. This book personally convicted me, as it showed me areas where I'm careless in my obedience to God's commands. In addition, he showed why it is so important for us to share this message with others. It is the very definition of "loving our neighbor as ourselves."?

In less than 7 years' time we enter into the Sabbatical cycle known for war. That is 2017. ? It is the 4th curse of Lev 26. And Daniel teaches us that in the middle of this last Jubilee cycle, which is 2020, then the USA will be cut off. This is the subject of my next book at the editor now.?

Would you consider sharing this book with your friends. Here is a video trailer for the book.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?feature=player\_embedded&v=L7Y5afZ3aY4?

I am writing to all those who keep Torah and to those who don't as well. I know you keep Torah. Please consider this book and order it after Shabbat. Knowing when the Sabbatical year is and was is not the hard to do. It is explained in this book so that a 4th grader can understand. And I can tell, you are no longer a 4th grader.?

May Yehovah bless you as you consider His commandments of which keeping the Sabbatical Year is one very important one.

I am asking you all to share that message or one like it. Get the word out to as many of the brethren in all the various different groups and let them know about the Sabbatical year. War is coming and if you are not obeying Yehovah then you are in great danger.

Here is one ladies review after watching some of my other teachings. She is one of the many who wrote this week to say they are going to support this effort to get the teachings I am presenting on TV and in a series so the world can know these things.

Wow. Thank you so much Grandpa Joseph, I just finished watching all of these videos. Brilliant content.

Mindboggling. And the finish was real totally unexpected as I didn't think you could jaw drop me anymore. I would love to see links for all that info just to verify further as unfortunately my lap top has limited sound so had to strain my ears to catch most of it. Could not see all the maps in great detail either. Some big print of the time line & dates would have been a bonus. But you did really well Joseph & I am baffled as to where you got to time to do all the research but God is faithful to those that earnestly seek him. But yes the most mindboggling part is that all this is hidden or forgotten about & not pieced together. It really makes fools of all the 'intellectuals' of the world that atheists because here is there proof that they are always looking for right in front of them.

You will be happy to know that I have cut back on my giving at my currently unscriptural church so I can give to you instead $50aud per month so you can get some quality videos happening etc.

Only just last wk my Scottish friend was telling me all about the Picts & then your videos mentioned them. I will have to tell her that they are the American Indians. Although they have the dark hair & skin unlike Scottish people or did I get that bit wrong?

Anyway I would like to direct debit you some money so can you please give me the details? I hope to do this ongoing but let's say 6mths for now.

Kind regards,
Y P Australia

I was out in my yard on Shabbat last week wondering what I was going to share with you all this week.

I was then shown this next article and I was floored. I had heard some of the things before so I should not have been so surprised. But I was dumbfounded.

As you all are aware I have been bragging just how blessed we are here in Canada during the great depression that has come on the USA and UK. A depression, which I warned you all about in the DVD, we made in 2005.

Although many laughed at me at the time, six months later it did happen.

Canada went through those tough times rather as if the worldwide recession was a figment of someone's imagination. I had so much work and I traveled to Israel 3 times year and bought equipment and prospered.

And as I post this, the news yesterday said that Canada had 4 banks in the top 10 of the strongest in the world| and I just so happen to deal with two of them. This is no small accomplishment consider the number of banks that have gone bankrupt since 2008 when this all began.

<http://www.cbc.ca/news/business/story/2013/05/01/businessbloomberg-bank.html>

On March 20, 2004 Stephen Harper became Prime Minister of Canada with a Minority government. Let me give you a little bit of history about Stephen Harper.

In 2002, he succeeded Stockwell Day as leader of the Canadian Alliance (the successor to the Reform Party) and returned to parliament as Leader of the Opposition. In 2003, he reached an agreement with Progressive Conservative leader Peter MacKay for the merger of their two parties to form the Conservative Party of Canada.

He was elected as the party's first non-interim leader in March 2004.

Harper's Conservative Party won a stronger minority in the October 2008 federal election, showing a small increase in the percentage of the popular vote and increased representation in the Canadian House of Commons, with 143 of 308 seats. The 40th Canadian Parliament was dissolved in March 2011, after his government failed a no-confidence vote on the issue of the Cabinet being in contempt of parliament.[3]

In the May 2011 federal election, Harper's Conservative Party won a majority government, the first since the 2000 federal election. His party won 166 seats, an increase of 23 seats from the October 2008 election.

IN 2010 Prime Minister Harper made this speech in standing up for Israel at the UN. I was never so proud to be Canadian as I was and because of the talk this man gave.

And Aljazeera has also some great footage to show. But remember this is Aljazeera reporting here.

In the 2008 book Eye for an Eye by William L Koenig speaking about the major disasters then hitting the USA Koenig writes,

What do these major record-setting events have in common?

- The ten costliest insurance events in U.S. history
- The twelve costliest hurricanes in U.S. history
- Three of the four largest tornado outbreaks in U.S. history
- The two largest terrorism events in U.S. history

All of these major catastrophes and many others occurred or began on the very same day or within 24-hours of U.S. presidents Bush, Clinton and Bush applying pressure on Israel to trade her land for promises of "peace and security," sponsoring major "land for peace" meetings, making major public statements pertaining to Israel's covenant land and /or calling for a Palestinian state.

Are each one of these major record-setting events just a coincidence or awe-inspiring signs that God is actively involved in the affairs of Israel?

In this book, Bill Koenig provides undeniable facts and conclusive evidence showing that indeed the leaders of the United States and the world are on a collision course with God over Israel's covenant land.

"And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem"

(Zechariah 12:9)

As "America has done to Israel" by John McTernan is another book which shows the same thing. That is how US policy against the state of Israel has been met by serious disasters on the USA.

As our Prime Minister who represents Canadians stands up and defends Israel in the UN from many of the accusations that are overwhelmingly voted on against Israel, we here in Canada receive the blessings in our economy.

I do not often comment about various politics in any country. I have avoided being sucked into endless debates with those who love the intrigue of politics. But the pains that USA has suffered coinciding with the decisions they made against Israel cannot be ignored. And what is about to happen to Canada, the land I love cannot be ignored either.

I have marveled how throughout the world debacle on the banking crisis how Canada and our banks got by unscathed. How blessed I have been working in construction to have had so much work when the rest of the world is suffering from double digit unemployment and the majority of it in the housing industry in which I work.

But On April 14, 2013, Justin Trudeau was elected leader of the Liberal Party of Canada. He was not elected

Prime Minister, but has now become the leader of the opposition. His Father was Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who was the 15th Prime Minister of Canada from April 20, 1968 to June 4, 1979, and again from March 3, 1980 to June 30, 1984.

Trudeau began his political career as a lawyer, intellectual, and activist in Quebec politics. In the 1960s, he entered federal politics by joining the Liberal Party of Canada. He was appointed as Lester Pearson's Parliamentary Secretary, and later became his Minister of Justice. From his base in Montreal, Trudeau took control of the Liberal Party and became a charismatic leader, inspiring "Trudeaumania". From the late 1960s until the mid-1980s, he dominated the Canadian political scene and aroused passionate reactions. "Reason before passion" was his personal motto. He retired from politics in 1984, and John Turner succeeded him as Prime Minister.

Admirers praise the force of Trudeau's intellect and salute his political acumen in preserving national unity against the Quebec sovereignty movement, suppressing a violent revolt, and establishing the Charter of Rights and Freedoms within Canada's constitution. Critics accuse him of arrogance, economic mismanagement, and unduly favouring the federal government relative to the provinces, especially in trying to distribute the oil wealth of the Prairies.

Justin Trudeau has come to office on the popularity of His fathers success before he died. But.....

That is not what is troubling me this day as I look at the political scene here in Canada for the future. No it is his beliefs that trouble me and that fact that he will most likely be the next Prime Minister and if not the next the one after that is of grave concern.

Of all the disasters that have happened around the world, virtually none have come on Canada. Of all the Terrorist attacks none have happened in Canada. They were caught beforehand. But now I am expecting the protecting hand of Yehovah to be removed as the next Prime Minister Trudeau will move to go against the State of Israel and align us against Israel at every move as the pro anti-Israeli and liberal forces gather steam and momentum around the world.

Yes you will then see terrorist attacks in Canada being completed successfully. You will also see disasters hit us from all directions and Tornadoes unlike anything we have ever had in history.

And we too will struggle to find the money to pay for our food and shelters.

Brethren please watch the video in the next article and pray.

What are Justin Trudeau's foreign policy views, especially about the threat of Islamic terrorism?

Two years ago, Trudeau criticized the new citizenship guide for new immigrants, called Discover Canada. One passage in that guide book said, "Canada's openness and generosity do not extend to barbaric cultural practices that tolerate spousal abuse, 'honour killings,' female genital mutilation, forced marriage or other gender-based violence."

Pretty tough to disagree with that. But Trudeau did. He said, "There needs to be a little bit of an attempt at responsible neutrality" by the Canadian government. Honour killings shouldn't be called "barbaric," he said. Same thing nearly two weeks ago, when Peter Mansbridge asked Trudeau about the Boston bombings. His thoughts were not with the victims, but rather the perpetrators. "We have to look at the root causes,” he said. “But there is no question that this happened because there is someone who feels completely excluded ... We also have to monitor and encourage people to not point fingers at each other.”

Three were dead and close to 200 injured, but Trudeau was more concerned about finger-pointing. Another worrisome sign came last December, when Trudeau spoke at a Muslim conference in Toronto that was sponsored by IRFAN-Canada. That group had its charitable status stripped by the Canada Revenue Agency in 2011, which claims they used deceptive fundraising to send nearly $15 million to groups with ties to the terrorist group Hamas. In the subsequent media storm, IRFAN quit as a sponsor. But Trudeau accepted the invitation when they were part of it.

If Trudeau lacks foreign policy judgment, who are his advisers? One answer is his brother, Alexandre “Sacha” Trudeau. Sacha once wrote a bizarre column in the Toronto Star praising Fidel Castro, saying, “His intellect is one of the most broad that can be found ... Combined with a Herculean physique and extraordinary courage, this monumental intellect makes Fidel the giant that he is.”

Sacha is a filmmaker. He made an anti-American movie, called Embedded in Baghdad. He made an anti-Israel movie called The Fence. And his latest masterpiece is called The New Great Game, about Iran’s courageous decision to defy America and Israel. Sacha made it in co-operation with Press TV, the state-run propaganda agency of Iran.

Sacha is like Justin — a spoiled dilettante. But Trudeau’s more serious adviser is Omar Alghabra, the Saudi-born former president of the Canadian Arab Federation who briefly served as an MP from Mississauga. This month, Alghabra told Al Jazeera, “On the issue of Iran, Trudeau has clearly stated that he is for engagement.”

But that’s the thing. The world tried engagement for years. Iran played us for fools and kept building nuclear weapons. So now the world’s democracies are done engaging Iran. We’re desperately trying to stop them now with full-blown sanctions. But Trudeau wants to suddenly reverse course? To reward Iran with normalized relations?

Alghabra has extreme views. When he was president of the Canadian Arab Federation in 2004, he denounced Canada’s largest newspaper chain for using the term “terrorist” to describe Muslim terrorist groups like the alAqsa Martyrs Brigade. He said that was a mere opinion, not a fact.

Alghabra wrote a letter to Toronto’s police chief in 2005 condemning the chief for participating in a charity walk for Israel, saying Israel was “conducting a brutal and the longest contemporary military occupation in the world.” In a letter to a journalist, he wrote the chief’s visit to Israel was comparable to visiting Saddam Hussein’s dictatorship.

When arch-terrorist Yasser Arafat died, Alghabra put out a press release announcing he was mourning for him.

When Canada was setting up a no-fly list for passengers considered security threats, Alghabra opposed it. And when Ontario narrowly rejected adopting shariah law for Muslim divorces, Alghabra was disappointed, calling it “unfortunate.”

Justin Trudeau’s instincts are wrong — on terrorism, on honour killings, on extremist groups. But even scarier than his own instincts are those of his advisers.

And last just as I go to post still more news comes to light.

Canada is not going to seek a seat on the security council at the UN. You will read in the article I am now posting here that one of the reasons is because we no longer have the needed support to gain that seat. The support has moved away from us for our support of Israel. Can you believe it?

The UN who have attacked Israel at every chance they can and not a word against those who are attacking Israel with rockets and threats of annihilation, has moved away from supporting Canada at the UN security council.

<http://www.theglobeandmail.com/news/politics/canada-wont-run-for-un-security-council-seat-in2014/article11650813/>

But when the Liberals win the next Election and Mr. Trudeau takes office that will all change. And so will our support of Israel and then you will see that disasters and sad situations invade this country.

OTTAWA -- A man has been charged with 10 counts of first-degree murder and 13 counts of attempted murder after a van struck pedestrians along one of Toronto's busiest thoroughfares, conjuring memories of recent similar attacks, including in France, Germany and Spain.

Monday's events sent the city reeling, sowing confusion and fear. So why have no terrorism charges been laid in the case?

Two masked bombers walked into a crowded restaurant near Toronto and detonated a homemade explosive that wounded at least 15 people. In Belgium, a temporarily freed prisoner went on a deadly rampage, stabbing and shooting people and taking hostages before the police killed him.

Terrorists are likely to try to carry out attacks in Canada. Attacks could be indiscriminate, including in places visited by foreigners. You should monitor media reports and remain vigilant.

On 30 September 2017, a policeman was stabbed and 5 other people were injured during an incident in Edmonton.

On 29 January 2017 a shooting at a Quebec City mosque left 6 dead and 19 wounded. Police have arrested and charged the suspected gunman who is believed to have acted alone.

In August 2016, Canadian authorities successfully disrupted a planned attack when a Daesh (formerly referred to as ISIL) supporter was shot and killed in Ontario as he attempted to detonate an improvised explosive device.

On 22 October 2014, a Canadian soldier was killed by a gunman in central Ottawa. The suspect was subsequently shot dead. On 20 October 2014, a man was shot dead by police in Saint-Jean-sur-Richelieu in Quebec after he struck two Canadian soldiers with his car. One of the soldiers was fatally injured.

In August 2016, the Canadian government published its 2016 Public Report on the Terrorist Threat to Canada

The Canadian government's threat level for Canada is published on the Government of Canada website.

There's a heightened threat of terrorist attack globally against UK interests and British nationals, from groups or individuals motivated by the conflict in Iraq and Syria. You should be vigilant at this time.
