

Where is the famine that was to come in 2010?

 sightedmoon.com/where-is-the-famine-that-was-to-come-in-2010/

By Joseph F. Dumond

January 14, 2011

News Letter 5846-051

10th day of the 11th month 5846 years after creation

The 11th Month in the first year of the third Sabbatical Year

The Third Sabbatical Year of the 119th Jubilee Cycle

January 15, 2011

Shabbat Shalom Brethren,

Someone wrote me a couple of weeks ago and asked about those things I had said on page 33-34 in The Prophecies of Abraham. I was showing the first three times Famines were mentioned in the bible and how it related to us in our day. On page 34 I said 'What this is showing us is that the famine which is expected in the year 2010 will continue to get worse each year due to the growing heat until we get to Revelation 6 where a quarter of mankind will die from the sword and from hunger or famine.'

I stated that based on the life of Abraham and when the famine came in his time and as his life cycle is a prophecy to us today this was the conclusion I drew.

So the question is where is the famine that was to come in 2010? And this is a valid question.

Let's not forget this current year does not end until Aviv 2011. We are still in the 11th month right now.

Each of the curses are to happen during the 7 Year Sabbatical cycle in which they have been given. We have 6 more years to watch this curse of famine unfold. But in all honesty I truly expected it to begin in 2010 as this was the exact year when Abraham suffered the famine in his time. Are my conclusions wrong? I think they may need a little tweaking, but I still hold to the overall conclusions.

The News this past month has been screaming at us and many of you are asleep and do not realize what is going on around you. So read the headlines for the past month and then tell me if those things I have been saying are not still on track. I am not prophesying here but only showing you what Yehovah has promised to do.

I have shown you and you have seen the many reports from Australia where the bumper crop they had and were about to harvest has been washed away and flooded and eaten by locusts. You heard the interview Jono did with a farmer as it hailed on his crops wiping him out and then Jono played the interview with me telling them this would happen. It was such an epic moment.

If you have not heard it let me urge you again to listen to this interview.

<http://www.truth2u.org/2010/12/joe-dumond-joe%e2%80%99s-conclusions-fromleviticus-2620-confirmed.html>

This was done December 5, 2010, and since then the floods have come and the crops ruined, cities flooded and people evacuated. Keep in mind Australia supplies a large amount of the world's food. The grains that have been harvested have been downgraded to cattle feed which is the lowest grade due to the amount of rain that has fallen.

Up to 35,000 homes have been flooded in Brisbane and QLD. About 1% of Australia's domestic product has been lost or about 13 Billion due to the flood and this does not count the cost of the clean up. Keep an eye out for disease outbreaks.

As well Severe flooding in Sri Lanka has disrupted the lives of around one million people and forced hundreds of thousands to seek refuge in relief camps, aid workers say.

The floods – which are affecting five times more people than Australia's – have been triggered by continuous rains since Dec. 26, causing streams and dams to overflow mainly in eastern and central parts of the Indian Ocean island.

You can read the rest of this article at <http://ca.news.yahoo.com/one-million-people-hitsevere-floods-sri-lanka-20110113-231958-274.html>

Here in Toronto at this time of year we normally have about 100 flu cases reported. As of this week we have over 800 hundred flu case. We are in the third curse of Lev 26 which is Pestilence Famine and Earthquakes and this is on top of the Drought conditions from the second curse and the terror of the first curse.

You also need to read the article at <http://www.zerohedge.com/article/bloombergs-chart-day-warns-coming-surge-wheatcorn-prices>
12/12/2010

Now that the Chairman's (Bernanke) new mandate is not to prevent disinflation but to generate inflation, he may soon be patting himself on the back... but for all the wrong reasons. As the Bloomberg chart of the day indicates, the world may very soon see a surge in wheat and corn prices, pushing such staples as bread and corn flakes through the roof.

Drought in Russia and other parts of Europe, excessive rains in Canada, dry weather in the U.S. and flooding in Pakistan prompted the UN Food and Agriculture Organization to pare its harvest estimates. The agency forecast a 37.4 million metric ton shortfall in grains production for 2010, which would be the first deficit in at least three years. Global production of grains will be 2.216 billion tons this season, compared with demand of 2.254 billion tons, the FAO said last month.

“Our main concern is the low level of stocks,” Abdolreza Abbassian, secretary of the trade markets division of the agency’s Intergovernmental Group on Grains, said in a phone interview from Rome. “We don’t have enough buffer in the event of a major shortfall in production next year.”

Wheat futures surged to the highest in almost two years on Aug. 6 after the worst drought in at least half a century slashed grain harvests in Russia, prompting livestock feed users to switch to corn. Demand for that grain rose as a result, while dry weather threatened to curb yields in the U.S., the world’s largest producer, and hamper planting in South America. Corn prices have risen about 70 percent since this year’s June 7 low.

“These are symptoms of having tight markets for nearly all the major food crops, the result of which is that whenever any of them has a problem, you will see spillover with the others,” Abbassian said. A further boost in demand “could find the stocks at even a tighter situation. That could really send shock waves throughout the sector, starting with corn.”

Here we have someone who is watching the pulse of grains worldwide telling us that the buffer zone we used to have is gone. That is the stock piles of grain that we used to have in case of an emergency are now gone. And because there is no surplus of grains being harvested the market prices are going up fast due to the short supply or in his words tighter situation.

Here is another article from July 20th 2010 showing how the traders were jacking up the food prices to make a profit.

The country stands on the brink of famine.

The rains have failed, and – crucially, imported food is too expensive for Chad’s people to buy. In neighboring Niger, the situation is even worse.

The people of West Africa are starving. Almost 10 million people in the region are facing a food crisis.

The investment houses’ momentous decision to move into food investments has had tragic consequences. The strategy has caused world food prices to soar, leading to riots, famine and many deaths.

At the end of 2006, food prices across the world started to rise sharply.

Within a year, the price of wheat had shot up by 80 per cent, maize by 90 per cent, rice by 320 per cent.

Around the world, 200 million people – mostly children – who relied on cheaply imported foodstuffs sank into malnutrition or starvation. There were riots in more than 30 countries. The crisis continues today.

And indirectly, through a pension, shares or other investment, it could be your money which is being used to make others go hungry.

Jean Ziegler, former UN chief food expert, says this speculation has led to 'silent mass murder'.

For more than a century, prices had steadily declined. Then, in 2005 – as banks became involved in trading it, the price of wheat began to rise. So did the cost of rice, corn, soy, oats and cooking oil.

In the case of grain, between 2006 and 2008, the price of Chicago soft red winter wheat shot up from $3 a bushel to $11 a bushel.

In 2008, U.S. wheat giant Cargill announced an 86 per cent jump in profits, thanks to commodity trading.

The more prices went up, the more traders wanted to trade.

There were a few voices of sanity.

One old-fashioned grain seller said: 'This isn't just any commodity. It is food, and people need to eat.'

The global speculative frenzy over food prices sparked riots and helped drive the number of people going hungry in the world to more than a billion.

The price of basic foodstuffs rose by 80 per cent between 2005 and 2008.

Poor countries import large quantities of rice, wheat and maize. Now, they could not afford them.

The 2008 harvest of grain turned out to be the most bountiful the world had ever seen, so much so that even as hundreds of millions starved worldwide, huge stocks of grain were sold for animal feed.

In 2009, commodity prices began to escalate again.

Back in West Africa, the poor reap the fall-out from this crisis. Oxfam warns that the region stands on the very brink of a devastating famine.

Oxfam's food policy adviser, Chris Leather, told the Mail: 'West Africa is suffering a very real crisis. This came about because of a lack of rain, but another factor is speculation on commodities.'

'This has pushed world food prices up, and it is the poorest and most vulnerable in the world who suffer most. We are very concerned by the situation.'

Jean Ziegler of the UN says: 'In a world overflowing with riches, it is an outrageous scandal that more than one billion people suffer from hunger and malnutrition and that every year over six million children die of starvation and related causes.'

Read more: <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-1296068/Trading-death-Rapaciousbankers-making-fortunes-forcing-price-food-leaving-millionsstarve.html#ixzz1AOzDbzIC>

The story above reminds me of how Egypt stored up all the grains and as the world around them starved they would sell the grain back to them until finally they people had nothing left to sell and gave all they had to Pharaoh and Joseph. Today Egypt is represented by the European Union. Is this bible story being reenacted in our time?

<http://www.bloomberg.com/news/2011-01-05/global-food-prices-climb-to-record-oncereal-sugar-costs-un-agency-says.html>

World Food Prices Jump to Record on Sugar, Oilseeds

By Rudy Ruitenberg – Jan 5, 2011

World food prices rose to a record in December on higher sugar, grain and oilseed costs, the United Nations said, exceeding levels reached in 2008 that sparked deadly riots from Haiti to Egypt.

An index of 55 food commodities tracked by the Food and Agriculture Organization gained for a sixth month to 214.7 points, above the previous all-time high of 213.5 in June 2008, the Rome-based UN agency said in a monthly report. The gauges for sugar and meat prices advanced to records.

Sugar climbed for a third year in a row in 2010, and corn jumped the most in four years in Chicago. Food prices may rise more unless the world grain crop increases “significantly” in 2011, the FAO said Nov. 17. At least 13 people died last year in Mozambique in protests against plans to lift bread prices.

In response to the 2008 crisis, countries from India and Egypt to Vietnam and Indonesia banned exports of rice, a staple for half the world. Skyrocketing food prices sparked protests and riots in almost three dozen poor nations including Haiti, Somalia, Burkina Faso and Cameroon.

Global grain output will have to rise at least 2 percent this year to meet demand in 2011-2012 and avoid further depletion of stocks, the UN agency has said.

“The real uncertainty and problem is the 2011-2012 market,” Abbassian said. “We are at a very high level. If it’s further up than this, then you really begin to be concerned.”

Now go to this chart and look and see exactly how much all the grains have risen in just 2010.

<http://www.caseyresearch.com/editorial/3791?ppref=ZAC175ED1010A>

On average, our basic food costs have increased by an incredible 48% over the last year (measured by wheat, corn, oats, and canola prices). From the price at the pump to heating your stove, energy costs are up 23% on average (heating oil, gasoline, natural gas). A little protein at dinner is now 39% higher (beef and pork), and your morning cup of coffee with a little sugar has risen by 36% since last October.

You are being told that inflation is a non-issue. But your food costs have gone up 48%. Someone is not being told the truth. That increase is OK when you can afford it, but those in the third world can't as we have just read.

Oh, oh, no one told you that you can't afford it either for much longer. With many in North America on a fixed pension this increase in food cost bites hard on those seniors. Oh oh no one is telling them that their pensions are about to be taken away which will leave many of them with no money to buy that food let alone pay the rent or Mortgage.

Did you hear me? Your pensions that you all have worked so feverishly to build up are going to be taken away. Why? Because there ain't any more money to send out, that's why.

PRICHARD, Ala. — This struggling small city on the outskirts of Mobile was warned for years that if it did nothing, its pension fund would run out of money by 2009. Right on schedule, its fund ran dry.

Then Prichard did something that pension experts say they have never seen before: it stopped sending monthly pension checks to its 150 retired workers, breaking a state law requiring it to pay its promised retirement benefits in full.

"Prichard is the future," said Michael Aguirre, the former San Diego city attorney, who has called for San Diego to declare bankruptcy and restructure its own outsize pension obligations. "We're all on the same conveyor belt. Prichard is just a little further down the road."

Many cities and states are struggling to keep their pension plans adequately funded, with varying success. New York City plans to put $8.3 billion into its pension fund next year, twice what it paid five years ago. Maryland is considering a proposal to raise the retirement age to 62 for all public workers with fewer than five years of service.

Illinois keeps borrowing money to invest in its pension funds, gambling that the funds' investments will earn enough to pay back the debt with interest. New Jersey simply decided not to pay the $3.1 billion that was due its pension plan this year.

Colorado, Minnesota and South Dakota have all taken the unusual step of reducing the benefits they pay their current retirees by cutting cost-of-living increases; retirees in all three states are suing.

If the Cities and the States are broke and have no taxes coming in to pay the present bills and the present debts, then how are they going to pay you your pension money that you have to live on? They are not going to pay it and you will be amongst those who will be going hungry and begging for food right here in North America.

The mass media are telling you things are getting better. Go ahead and believe them if you want to. You're only fooling yourself. This great depression is not yet over. And you thought it was just a recession. Keep on ignoring prophecy if you want. Or you can repent and begin to keep Torah now. The next time you are told to keep the Sabbatical year and let the land rest, I know many of you will. Won't you? Maybe you need a few more headlines to shake you up.

You do remember the past couple of News Letter over Christmas where I showed you, that Israel, which is the USA and UK nations, including Australia and Canada will be eating the flesh of their own children.

I do not care if you believe me, but you should believe your own bible. Read it and prove me wrong if you can, but read it. During this current third Sabbatical cycle we are also expecting pestilence. If there is no money for pensions and the states and cities are going broke, then consider what happened in Zimbabwe when they ran out of money and had hyperinflation to deal with. The water systems were breaking with no one to fix them and then diseases began to spread. We have shared those stories here in these Newsletters. Lev 26 tells us these diseases that are coming will rob us of our children.

The US Government has been printing money like never before. Their debt levels continue to go through the roof, and many of you think everything is OK. Take a lesson from Zimbabwe which just happened in the past few years and know it is coming to the USA.

With no money to pay the pensions, and no money to maintain the police forces, and no money for the upkeep and maintenance of the water and sewer systems disease and death are inevitable. Now consider this also; This was the very thing I was sharing with you in the DVD about the Sabbatical and Jubilee years.

https://sightedmoon.com/sightedmoon_2015/?page_id=251

This DVD was made just before Passover in 2008. The world economy was in a boom at that time and I warned you then this was coming and people laughed at me and did not believe it. They are not laughing now.

Keep investing in your pensions plans. Keep pouring water into a bucket full of holes and expect it to be there in the future to support you. Pray about it if you want. But whatever you do stop dreaming that tomorrow it is going to be better. Take hold of your life and begin to control what you can. The Titanic was unsinkable too.

Having already completed this News Letter I then hear on the radio this past Sunday the following. If the things I am showing you and saying to you have not slapped you awake yet then maybe this will. This is a real stunner.

<http://www.thecomingdepression.net/main-street/bankruptcy-main-street/geitheradmits-usa-bankrupt-to-us-senate/>

January 6, 2011

“Never in our history has Congress failed to increase the debt limit when necessary. Failure to raise the limit would precipitate a default by the United States. Default would effectively impose a significant and long-lasting tax on all Americans and all American businesses and could lead to the loss of millions of American jobs. Even a very short-term or limited default would have catastrophic economic consequences that would last for decades. — Geithner”

Below is a letter written by Secretary Geithner to The Honorable Harry Reid, Majority Leader of the United States Senate. Secretary Geithner sent the following letter to Congress regarding the debt limit. What he's really doing is begging the Senate to pass the national debt limit increase because he knows if they do not it will result in the bankruptcy of the US.

As you know, in February of 2010 Congress passed legislation to increase the debt limit to $14.29 trillion. As of this writing, the outstanding debt that is subject to the limit stands at $13.95 trillion, leaving approximately $335 billion of "headroom" beneath the current limit. However, the Treasury Department now estimates that the debt limit will be reached as early as March 31, 2011, and most likely sometime between that date and May 16, 2011.

Reaching the debt limit would mean the Treasury would be prevented by law from borrowing in order to pay obligations the Nation is legally required to pay, an event that has no precedent in American history.

- A default would impose a substantial tax on all Americans. Because Treasuries represent the benchmark borrowing rate for all other sectors, default would raise all borrowing costs. Interest rates for state and local government, corporate and consumer borrowing, including home mortgage interest, would all rise sharply. Equity prices and home values would decline, reducing retirement savings and hurting the economic security of all Americans, leading to reductions in spending and investment, which would cause job losses and business failures on a significant scale.
- Payments on a broad range of benefits and other U.S. obligations would be discontinued, limited, or adversely affected, including:
 - o U.S. military salaries and retirement benefits;
 - o Social Security and Medicare benefits;
 - o veterans' benefits;
 - o federal civil service salaries and retirement benefits;
 - o individual and corporate tax refunds;
 - o unemployment benefits to states;
 - o defense vendor payments;
 - o interest and principal payments on Treasury bonds and other securities;
 - o student loan payments;
 - o Medicaid payments to states; and
 - o payments necessary to keep government facilities open.

For these reasons, any default on the legal debt obligations of the United States is unthinkable and must be avoided. It is critically important that Congress act before the debt limit is reached so that the full faith and credit of the United States is not called into question. The confidence of citizens and investors here and around the world that the United States stands fully behind its legal obligations is a unique national asset. Throughout our history, that confidence has made U.S. government bonds among the best and safest investments available and has allowed us to borrow at very low rates.

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j7_7IYukg04&feature=uploademail

On top of all this one sister sent me this 1.38 minute Video which explains the cuts the President is going to make as explained by a University Student.

<http://wimp.com/budgetcuts/>

Brethren the Titanic is not only sinking it is listing precariously and you need to get off as soon as you can.

And here are more news items about the food crisis.

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/01/06/business/global/06food.html?_r=1

World food prices continued to rise sharply in December, bringing them close to the crisis levels that provoked shortages and riots in poor countries three years ago, according to newly released United Nations data.

Once again I am going to show you the current drought map of the USA. Consider this in relation to what you have just been reading. <http://www.drought.unl.edu/dm/monitor.html>

In recent weeks you have heard how whole flocks of birds have been dropping from the sky dead; and how swarms of fish have been washing up also dead. You may want to look at this map which shows you where all of this is happening. <http://maps.google.com/maps/ms?ie=UTF8&msa=0&msid=201817256339889828327.0004991bca25af104a22b&ll=28.921631%2C5.273438&spn=141.542315%2C12.304687&z=2&iwloc=00> As to why.....read it in your bible and stop believing the gossips and conspiracy liars. Yehovah your creator is doing this and allowing things to happen to bring you to your knees and worship Him. Yehovah, not some men in a back room. Not the Illuminati or any other stupid story people spread around.

Here is another article about more Bumble bees dying off again. And you all know how much we need the bees to pollen the food we eat.

<http://www.newsdaily.com/stories/tre7023p7-us-bees-decline/>

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5, 2011 (Reuters) — Four previously abundant species of bumblebee are close to disappearing in the United States, researchers reported on Monday in a study confirming that the agriculturally important bees are being affected worldwide.

They documented a 96 percent decline in the numbers of the four species, and said their range had shrunk by as much as 87 percent. As with honeybees, a pathogen is partly involved,

“These are one of the most important pollinators of native plants,”

Several reports have documented the disappearance of bumblebees in Europe and Asia, but no one had done a large national study in the Americas.

So what is the world doing about the current food crisis and the future ones they see coming. I heard this on truth2U.org radio this past weekend on Isaiah 66:17. Read the verse and watch the BBC report at http://news.bbc.co.uk/2/hi/programmes/world_news_america/9338646.stm

Brethren I have been telling you to watch the DVD at https://sightedmoon.com/sightedmoon_2015/?page_id=251 which explains the Sabbatical year and the curse for not keeping them. Then I also urge you to buy the book The Prophecies of Abraham which shows you how the life of Abraham in conjunction with the Sabbatical years shows us certain things that are coming. Famine is one thing and war is the next curse. It is your family that is at stake and in the line of fire. You have read the headline news. I did not make this up. It is here on the nightly news for you to read. And it was told to you in Lev 26. Well you begin to believe it? Will you begin to Obey Yehovah?